A small message to keep

HOST PAGE 4 | Print, cut, offer a choice and collect privately

Page	Two cards on that page	When to print it
1	A: Little joys + B: People and belonging	A mix of gentle prompts
2	C: Curiosity and courage + D: A note for you	One prompted card and one blank letter
3	D + D: Two blank letter cards	More space for guests' own words

Match paper and size

Choose A4 or US Letter to match your paper. Print single-sided at Actual Size or 100%. The cut cards should measure 5 x 3.5 inches (127 x 88.9 mm). Print one test sheet and check the entire border before making copies. If you use Fit to avoid printer clipping, card dimensions will change.

Count the sheets, then cut

Each card page gives two cards. For twelve contributors plus four spare cards, print page 1 four times and page 2 four times: 12 prompted cards and 4 blank cards on 8 sheets. Print this host page once separately. Cut along the outside rectangle with scissors or a paper trimmer; the small outside ticks are cutting guides.

Let people choose their words

Set out pens and a clean box or envelope away from drinks. Invite each guest to choose one card and use as many or as few prompts as they wish. A signature is optional. Do not ask for medical details, future predictions or a public reading. Let the recipient decide what is shared or displayed.

Keep the originals together

Let the writing dry, then gather the flat cards in an envelope or supportive folder. For longer storage, use an acid- and lignin-free folder or box in a cool, dry, stable place away from light. Avoid tape, glue, rubber bands and paper clips on the cards. Display a copy if you want to keep the original protected.

Original cards and layout by Fête & Fig. Digitally checked; no physical printer or handwriting test claimed. See feteandfig.com/stories/wishes-for-baby-printable for all prompts, print quantities and the Library of Congress paper-care source.
